Anxious Angels Win SASBA Christmas Team

Anxious Angels: John Martin, Steve Wright,
Tony Savage, Brian Childress and Gene Thompson

By: Kathy King
FORT WORTH, TX – If you didn't bowl the Christmas tournament at Cowtown, Saturday, December 10, you missed a great event. We had 28 teams bowl and they all cashed. The top 5 teams made the Baker staircase final.
The Anxious Angels (Tony Savage, Brian Childress, Gene Thompson, John Martin, Steve Wright) qualified 4th and ran the table.
In the first match, they defeated the Merry Minstrels

(John Woessner, Kelly Ray, Bill Ferguson, Lee Mamone, Derek Williams) 206-200.
Then went on to defeat Rick's St. Nicks (Jerry Eddy, Jon Delaney, Rob Lyman, Ray Graham, Rick Minier) 185-162, the Stocking Stuffers (Chip Holliday, Jim Ensminger, Elmer Rainey, Jerry Owczarski, Pete Thomas) 241-213 and the Stuffed Turkeys (Billy Hutchinson, Scott Dodson, Jerry Burke, Don Simmons, Terry Taylor) 188-176.

Tony Franklin, Publisher

Another year has come and gone; the clock slows down for no one.

The Franklins had another eventful year, but I'm most grateful that our family was healthy and happy and ready to start 2023.

The biggest change for us has to be the fact that our daughter, Tori, now has her driver's permit. It's such a fun and scary adjustment, but this is something that she's been looking forward to FOREVER.

Having your license means freedom...freedom from your parents and honestly freedom for your parents. Even today, she rode to school with her friend, oh how I remember those days fondly.

I expect the next few years to fly by even faster than the last few, so for us it will be important to continue to create as many memories as we can before our girl becomes an adult, and then this new-found freedom, is the new reality.

On a very sad note, our good friend and bowling legend, Dee Munsell passed away last week.

Dee has been a part of my life since I started bowling adult over 30 years ago. He was my first SASBA partner and someone that I looked up to for guidance, advice, but mostly a good laugh.

He was a great bowler, a hilarious storyteller, and just an amazing guy. I loved hanging out with him because he was so real. Never held back from telling the truth and had an opinion about everything. We had a lot in common and as I think back on it now, maybe more than I ever truly realized.

My whole family loved Dee, even my grandmother, who was so fond of him because he smoked the same cigarettes as my grandfather, Lucky Strikes. Makes me laugh just thinking about that.

I even quoted something that Dee always told me to Mike Donahue just a couple of days ago...I laughed as soon as I said it. Now I won't repeat it here because it's a little too colorful for these pages, but I think that's a great way to honor those that came before us. Take a little something from those we love and keep spreading it around. Mike doesn't know where it came from, but maybe someday he will repeat it, and it will keep a very small Dee-ism rolling around to a new generation.

The fondest thing I know about Dee is the love he had for his wife Bobbi. Her death was brutal on Dee and that was the beginning of the end for him. She was his everything and he was a lost soul without her. Today they are together again and I believe that the clock has restarted for them. At least I hope that's the way it works.

Dee - thanks for everything you gave the bowling community and for always being such a great friend to me and my family. I will miss you always.

x-x-x-x-x

From all of us at The Bowling News, thank you for your continued support and have a wonderful holiday season. We will see you on the lanes in 2023!!!!

TNBA Creates Young Delegates Grant Program with USBC Partnership

By: Dave Schroeder

ARLINGTON, Texas - The National Bowling Association and United States Bowling Congress have created a partnership supporting creation of a TNBA Young Delegates Grant Program modeled after the one initiated by USBC in 2016.

The program aims to encourage the next generation of TNBA members to attend TNBA's National Convention and promote lifelong engagement in the sport. USBC launched its version of a Young Delegates Grant Program six years ago and the program has proven to be successful in attracting and retaining a new group of leaders by covering expenses to introduce them to USBC's Annual Convention.

Like USBC, TNBA was looking for ways to create more age diversity at its National Convention. That led to a discussion between TNBA President Gregory Green and USBC Executive Director Chad Murphy, where Murphy shared how the USBC addressed the issue and offered to assist TNBA with setting up its own program.

TNBA's Young Delegates Grant Program will provide grants to first-time delegates between the ages of 21-40 to attend their National Convention. Additionally, through the USBC's Diversity and Inclusion initiatives, the USBC is offering a minimum three-year commitment to fund grants in TNBA's program.

"We are super excited to launch this initiative and appreciate the opportunity to partner with USBC," Green said. "This effort will help grow the young adult participation for our organization. We see a big presence in young adults participating at the National Championship Tournament, but this will also give our youth a chance to see within the organization and observe items such as decision making, rules, regulations and more."

The USBC's Young Delegates Grant Program has proven to be a success as the program has seen a growth in the number of individuals under the age of 45 attending the Annual Con-tion since the program was instituted.

"We're certainly happy to share this program's blueprint for success with TNBA," Murphy said. "We're also pleased to be able to contribute by funding grants. Creating and maintaining the next generation of association leaders is a priority for both of our organizations, and we're proud to partner with TNBA on this initiative."

TNBA's Young Delegates Grant Program is off to a promising start as more than $10,000 already has been collected from the organization's senate membership, including donations from past president Dewann Clark and National 2021 King Robert Danzy.

Collegiate Ticker

By: Aaron Smith
DECEMBER 7 - The Marian-Wisconsin men and Davenport women were able to hit the reset button and start fresh in the bracket at last weekend's Brunswick Warhawk Open, collecting three wins on the way to victory in their respective divisions.

The event was held at Stardust Bowl in Addison, Illinois, and featured 27 men's varsity teams and 24 varsity squads in the women's division.

Qualifying consisted of six traditional games and 16 Baker games to determine the eight teams advancing to the bracket. All rounds of bracket play featured best-of-three Baker contests to determine the champion.

In the men's division, Mount Mercy led qualifying to claim the top seed for the bracket, finishing with a 9,591 total. St. Ambrose was second with 9,472, and Wisconsin-Whitewater was third with 9,393.

Marian-Wisconsin was the No. 6 seed after finishing with 9,188. St. Francis-Illinois earned the final spot in the men's bracket with 8,979, narrowly topping Midland (8,968) and Calumet (8,954).

Marian-Wisconsin quickly went to work in match play, sweeping Wisconsin-Whitewater 2-0 (245-170, 211-143) in the first round. The Sabres battled No. 7 Saint Xavier in the semifinal, winning the match in Game 3 to take the 2-1 win (207-193, 132-203, 187-140) and advance to the championship round against St. Francis-Illinois.

The Fighting Saints made their way to the finals with sweeps of Mount Mercy (203-180, 224-194) and No. 4 Notre Dame-Ohio (214-198, 222-134).

The title match was defined by big games with the Sabres striking first, 244-191. St. Francis-Illinois forced the deciding game after posting a 276-166 win in Game 2, but Marian-Wisconsin was able to bounce back in Game 3, capturing the title with a 244-215 victory.

Saint Xavier's Alex Acosta averaged more than 254 in his final four games to edge St. Ambrose's Ryan Speer for the top individual spot in the men's division, finishing with a 1,379 total (229.83 average).

After starting with games of 191 and 170, Acosta finished with 249, 257, 258 and 254 to collect his first win of the season and third top-five finish.

Speer took second with 1,375, and Mount Mercy's Brett Lloyd was third with 1,346. Jaysen Spanbauer of Marian-Wisconsin was fourth with 1,337, and Saint Xavier's Matt Devorsky earned the final spot on the all-tournament team with a 1,323 total.

Mount Mercy also finished as the top qualifier in the women's division at the Warhawk Open, finishing with 8,659 to lead the field. William Penn was second with 8,581, and St. Francis-Illinois qualified third with 8,376.

Davenport was the final team to advance to the bracket, finishing with 8,226 to stay ahead of Marian-Wisconsin (8,197).

The Panthers pounced on the opportunity for extended play and swept top seed Mount Mercy 2-0 (203-180, 224-194) in the opening round. Davenport continued to strike in a big win over No. 5 Calumet, posting another 2-0 (214-111, 220-193) victory to earn their spot in the finals against William Penn.

William Penn advanced with wins over No. 7 Wisconsin-Whitewater (200-163, 173-168) and No. 6 Coe (201-190, 203-248, 157-150).

Davenport took the advantage with a 201-181 victory in Game 1, but William Penn responded in Game 2 to tie the match, 179-161. The finale featured a slower scoring pace, but Davenport was able to get the job done and take home the title, 166-149.

Davenport's Kasey Eaton collected top individual honors over six games in the women's division, finishing at the top of the leaderboard with a 1,284 total (214 average).

The win was the first of the season for Eaton and marked her fourth top-10 finish of the 2022-2023 campaign.

Bailey Delrose of St. Francis-Illinois finished as the runner-up with 1,275, and she was followed in the standings by William Penn's Alexis Lake (1,227), Coe's Whitney Morse (1,199) and Wisconsin-Whitewater's Kelly Whipple (1,187).

In other collegiate action: -At the American Heartland Bowling Association (AHBA) - Event 4 in Fort Wayne, Indiana, the Indiana Tech men recorded their first AHBA win of the season. In the women's division, Alma collected its second AHBA title of the year after winning Event 2 in October. CBS Sports Network to Televis PWBA, Collegiate and Youth Events in 2023

By: Dave Schroeder

ARLINGTON, Texas – Live coverage of three Professional Women's Bowling Association Tour majors, continued coverage of collegiate events, and the return of televised finals for youth events highlight a 13-event television schedule on CBS Sports Network in 2023.

The stepladder finals of the United States Bowling Congress Queens from Sam's Town Bowling Center in Las Vegas on May 23 will be the first of three live PWBA Tour majors televised by CBS Sports Network.

The stepladder finals of the U.S. Women's Open follows on June 20 from ABC Gates Bowl in Rochester, New York, and the stepladder finals of the PWBA Tour Championship complete CBS Sports Network's live coverage on Aug. 15 from Cadillac Xtreme Bowling Center in Waterloo, Iowa. Each of the three two-hour live events are scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Eastern.

"We're excited to continue to partner with CBS Sports Network to bring live coverage of the PWBA's most important events to our fans," said Frank DeSocio, Executive Director of the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America. "Televising the finals of these three majors helps bring top-of-mind awareness to the talented athletes competing on the PWBA Tour."

In addition to live coverage of the women's professional majors, CBS Sports Network will feature four shows from the Intercollegiate Team and Singles Championships, the finals of all four divisions of the Junior Gold Championships, and the two title matches at the USA Bowling National Championships.

The last time the finals of the Junior Gold Championships and the USA Bowling National Championships were broadcast on television was at the 2019 events in Detroit.

"Bringing back televised coverage for these youth events was a priority, and we're glad we were able to work with CBS Sports Network to make these telecasts a reality," said Melissa McDaniel, President of the United States Bowling Congress. "The competitors in these events truly represent the future of the sport and it's important to highlight their talents."

The finals of college bowling's premier events, the Intercollegiate Singles Championships and Intercollegiate Team Championships, will be held at South Point Bowling Plaza in Las Vegas and will kick off CBS Sports Network's 2023 coverage with telecasts on four consecutive Tuesdays in April and May, all at 7 p.m. Eastern.

The ISC women's finals will air Tuesday, April 25, followed by the ISC men's finals on May 2, the ITC women's title match on May 9 and the ITC men's final on May 16.

Rounding out CBS Sports Network's 2023 coverage are the finals of the USA Bowling Championships on consecutive Tuesdays in July, and the boys and girls finals in each of the four divisions of the Junior Gold Championships in August. Both events will be contested in Indianapolis.

The U12 division finals of the USA Bowling Championships will be televised Tuesday, July 18, at 7 p.m. Eastern and will be followed by the finals of the U15 division Tuesday, July 25, also at 7 p.m. Eastern.

The finals of the U12 and U15 divisions at the Junior Gold Championships are slated to be televised on back-to-back Tuesdays, Aug. 1 and 8. After a one-week hiatus, the finals of the U18 and U20 divisions will be televised on consecutive Tuesdays, Aug. 22 and 29. Each of the four Junior Gold telecasts are scheduled to start at 7 p.m. Eastern.

The 2023 CBS Sports Network bowling schedule is as follows (all times Eastern):

- PWBA Finals (all live):
Tuesday, May 23, 7 p.m., USBC Queens, Las Vegas
- Tuesday, June 20, 7 p.m., U.S. Women's Open, Rochester, N.Y.

Memories of Mazey and Weber at Christmas

It's no secret to anyone that knows me, knows how much I love Christmas and the holiday season. It's a tremendous time of year that celebrates the birth of Jesus Christ, and also gives us time to reflect upon all of the joy and blessings that have been bestowed upon us as a nation. In honor of that tradition, I have carried on with a long-established custom that was handed down to me by one of the great marketing minds of AMF, John Mazey.

That practice is the creation of a homemade Christmas card, which I have continued in honor of Mr. Mazey for almost 40 years. John was a very unique individual. He had a way of using everyone involved when it came to AMF's award-winning advertising campaigns. On more than one occasion I witnessed his uncanny knack of visualizing a slogan during filming or direction of a particular advertising campaign.

One such moment that I remember so well was an advertisement that was completed in the hallway of an agency director's home. After reviewing the basic elements of a bowler's delivery, the decision was made to go ahead and complete the scene right there in his home, rather than having to set up and reimburse a proprietor at a bowling establishment. The director kept commenting about my smooth approach and delivery as I focused on a doorknob down the hallway as my 'range finder.'

Mazey's miracle slogan for the print ad commercial became — "AMF... The Best

My Collection of Christmas Cards from the Webers -How Do You Throw Away a Card from Dick Weber?-

Approach."

The Weber Christmas Cards
Another benefit of being involved with AMF was a business and personal relationship with Dick Weber. He was such an incredible individual that never ceased to amaze me with his charming wit, amazing ability to remember names, and a genuine enthusiasm for living. Our Christmas card exchange each year was a particular joy for me, with many cherished notes inscribed within the cards from the world's most recognizable bowler.

When I first arrived at AMF's corporate offices in 1982, I began another tradition of mailing a box filled with a dozen pears from Harry & David every year at Christmas to the thirty or so bowling news publishers around the country. I also included a few noteworthy individuals on the list that had helped me along the way... Primo Liberatore, Jim Decker, Rex Golobic, Sam Weinstein, Remo Picchietti, Joe Antenora, Bruce Gobbi, and of course, Dick Weber.

DAVE'S CORNER

Dick loved those pears! On more than one occasion he wrote and thanked me. Here's one of his acclamations:

"Dear Dave, Thanks for the pears. So good! Hope all is well and we will be in touch soon. Have a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year." -Dick & Juanita

Another time Juanita, Dick's wife of more than 50 years, wrote that Dick was on the road but was sure that he would be enjoying the pears when he got back home. "He just loves those pears!"

A different exchange that we had on more than one instance was regarding seagulls. Whenever I would visit a particular Starbucks in Jersey City, I would purchase a scone or other pastry item and have a seat outdoors along the waterfront with a beautiful view of Manhattan. There was one gull that seemed to be waiting for me and would hover in anticipation of a treat. I would break off a piece of the scone and fling it high in the air. The gull never missed snatching the piece of pastry in mid-air! A photo of that gull fluttering over the Manhattan skyline was the subject matter of my 1998 Christmas card.

Dick wrote back about my encounter with the seagull:

"Dear Dave, Nice to know your bowling arm is still in good shape, especially for that seagull! All our family is doing well." -Dick & Nita

Weber replied another time that I had mentioned my favorite seagull and said that he and Nita had a similar experience while on a cruise. Dick said that every morning he would spot a gull outside their private balcony and toss a snack to the bird as he flew in harmony with the ship, at the exact same speed.

Perhaps my favorite Weber story is the one where I got lost with him on the way to a bowling event in Muskegon, Michigan. He never let me forget that day and would always ask, either by phone or when meeting personally, "Dave, do you have your roadmap?" What an honor for me to be remembered by such a famous person.

It wasn't until many years later, in one of my recollections of that story, that Juanita confided in me that Dick had his own issues when it came to using a roadmap:

"Dear Dave, Thanks for your story on the roadmap! Bet Dick never told you the story about us missing our tee time in Canada with the Seniors because he needed a map but wouldn't stop to ask directions. He got razzed for a long time for that by his buddies." -Nita

Dick passed away on February 14, 2005. Juanita, his wife of 57 years and matriarch of pro bowling's most famous family, died in 2020. They are survived by their children Rich, Paula, John and Pete, as well as many grandchildren, and also great grandchildren. Weber once humorously remarked on Eyewitness 5 News in St. Louis, "All of my children have had 300 games. My wife bowls in self-defense."

As I was looking through my collection of cards from the Weber family, I noticed a card from December of 2004 (in the very center of the photo). Dick's handwriting was not as solid as I had remembered, but I just chalked it up to old age. He died less than two months later. Now that I'm in my seventh decade, I've noticed on certain days that I also share that same shaky handwriting.

Whenever that happens, I put the pen down and head outside for a walk, and share an apple with a friendly deer that walks along the creek flowing through our complex. Just like the seagull that seemed to always be there when I visited the Starbucks in Jersey City, that deer also seems to be there whenever I stroll along what I like to call "Deer Path Creek."
