They were paired up for the round robin match play finals on Sunday.

Kurt and Gerald were in 2nd place by 2 pins going into the 12th and final match against leaders Brent Duroy and Rick Benard. Kurt and Gerald won the match 211-199 for the victory. It was Kurt's 2nd SASBA title and Gerald's 3rd.

Ron Boroff/John Burkett jumped over Brent and Rick the last game to grab 2nd, Brent and Rick were 3rd, Joe Binder/Butch Cormier 4th and Steve Wright/Danny Inocencio rounded out the top 5.

Chris Via Wins 2021 U.S. Open

By: Matt Cannizzaro

RENO, Nev. - Chris Via of Springfield, Ohio, has continued to put himself in position to become a champion on the Professional Bowlers Association Tour, and he broke through in a major way Sunday at the 2021 U.S. Open.

The 29-year-old right-hander claimed the first title of his career and a $30,000 top prize with a dramatic 214-213 victory over Jakob Butturff of Tempe, Arizona, at the famed National Bowling Stadium.

The show aired live on FOX Sports' FS1 as part of the 2021

PBA Tour television schedule. The event is one of the five majors on the PBA Tour and was the final one of the 2021 season.

Via became the first No. 1 seed to win the prestigious title and coveted green jacket since 2015, and the title tilt came down to the final delivery of the long week.

Butturff had the opportunity to throw three strikes in his final frame to force a roll-off, but he fell short. He left a 2 pin after delivering two strikes, the second of which featured a messenger taking out the 7 pin.

"I fully expected to be bowling in a roll-off, especially after Jakob's first two shots, but the last one was a little off and didn't strike," said Via, who won a team gold medal with Butturff at the 2017 International Bowling Federation World Championships. "It was more shock at first when he didn't get it, then the realization that I won, and I'm a major champion. To do it at this event, and at the Stadium, the Mecca of bowling, is a dream come true."

The finalists were separated

Holmes was most recently crested and headlined "Crashing," an HBO comedy series and had a late-night talk show in TBS.

McBride's most recent work was in the last seven seasons of "Hawaii Five-O."

The tumultuous 1971 PBA Winter Tour came to a close fifty years ago this month as the lefty/righty lane condition controversy defined its final tournament, the Firestone Tournament of Champions. Only one of the finalists was right-handed, defending champion Don Johnson.

Feel Good Story of the Year...Food Bank Reopens Bowling Center!

One of the favorite memories that I have of my bowling career with AMF is driving. Because I was young, unattached and perhaps a bit naive at the time, I thought nothing of throwing my belongings into the back of my '71 Mustang and heading out to yet another destination for AMF Bowling Centers as a promotion specialist.

In those early years my territory was the western United States, and most of the properties were along the Interstate 5 corridor from San Diego to Seattle. Because I was a geography major in college, I looked forward to each temporary move as an opportunity Yreka Lanes - A temporary sign adorns the main entrance to the new Yreka Lanes to view yet another part of the physical and cultural makeup of the greatest country the world has ever known.

One of the most gratifying trips from the standpoint of physical geography was a section of I-5 from Redding, California to Medford, Oregon. It's really hard to describe to makings of someone to watch as he won his first title at age 19, then like many of that age group at the time was drafted into the U.S. Army and served as a Green Beret in Vietnam. He returned to win once in 1970, but it was 1971 that proved to be his signature year with five wins.

Billy Welu called this telecast The Johnny Petraglia Show, why was that? Well, he appeared on an unheard of, eight of the thirteen shows that winter, winning four including the first tournament of what would make him the second player to win the Triple Crown.

Petraglia's final of his five 1971 wins was the Houston-Sertoma tournament at old Stadium Bowl in Houston, just north of the Astrodome.

The 1971 ToC finals featured four lefties, including two who didn't make more than a handful of television finals.

Second seed Dick Battista was making the fourth of his five career ABC-TV Pro Bowler Tour (PBT) appearances. Although he had three titles by this point, the 47-year-old fourth seed Marty Piraino was making his only PBT appearance. Each of his four titles and his fifteen top five finishes would occur on the summer and fall tours. Fifth seed and 1968 ToC winner Dave Davis was on his third PBT show of the season, having been defeated by Larry Lichstein at the Ebonite Classic in February where all five TV finalists were left-handed. Davis would win his second Firestone ToC at Riviera Lanes in 1975.

As the lone right hander, Johnson was at the start of the point in his career that would make him one of the elite players of the era, winning eight times by the end of 1972, including five straight in five consecutive tournament appearances.

This win would be Petraglia's third straight televised tournament PBA title in as many weeks, the first to do so.

Starting with the summer tour segment, the PBA began its Lane Maintenance program, dressing lanes for its own events, led by PBA Hall of Famer Len Nicholson and Sam Baca.

For this week's JPA Lost Classic, let's go back to the final installment of The Johnny Petraglia Show for the '71 PBA Winter Tour. Since the show is broken up into segments, here's the second half of the title match (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4-4d95HTgyQ>).

On a somber note, condolences go to 900 series shooter and PBA Midwest Regional champion Brady Stearns on the passing of his father, Bob, at age 76. The elder Stearns was a local legend around central Minnesota as a young adult, winning his first of six local annual season ending scratch match game tournaments at age 20.

Stearns bowled the PBA national and Midwest Regional tours before winning his lone regional in 1973 in Aberdeen, South Dakota before opening Southway Bowl in the fall of 1974. While keeping touch with current information on lane conditions and equipment, he became the dean of local bowlers for several generations.

Whenever someone got an itch to test his skill and bowl a regional, Bob would answer questions while saying, "Bowl one and see if it suits your fancy. They are not for everyone."

Once a St. Cloud bowler arrived at the regional, he would get the usual exchange from whichever Weber family member was running the tournament, whether it be Dick, Rich, or John.

"From St. Cloud, huh? Know Bob Stearns? Good! Tell him I said hello."

As the area's premier bowler, anyone east of the Rocky Mountains just how beautiful and fulfilling each of those journeys was for me, with the incredible variance in temperature and altitude, and perhaps some of the most beautiful scenery in the world.

Traveling in the summer months from the 110 degree temperatures along the high desert near Redding, the thermometer takes a 40 degree drop in the space of less than one hour as you approach the foothills of Mount Shasta, a 14,000 foot conical volcano that seems to rise out of the interstate at Weed, California (yes, there really is a town called Weed). After a brief stop at Cedar Lanes in Weed, I would often take the scenic route, if time permitted, to the next hamlet of Yreka, home of Siskiyou Lanes.

And that brings us to the topic of this week's article... Siskiyou Lanes, which is now operating as Yreka Lanes. As I was looking on the internet for additional bowling centers that had permanently closed as a result of the COVID-19 flu virus, I stumbled upon the following business write up that appeared in the Siskiyou Daily News: "Food Bank to Open Yreka Bowling Alley."

The article goes on to explain that the local food bank, which shares a space in the same building with Yreka Lanes, had purchased the building about three years ago. Laura Leach, Executive Director of the Siskiyou Community Food Bank, explains in the he enjoyed watching the success of others on the lanes. When I shot the then Central Minnesota Bowling Association high series in the late 1980's, he was one of the first congratulate me saying he knew it was truly earned and to enjoy it, knowing how much work I had put into my game.

Not afraid of new technology, he kept up on the game in his later years by being one of the first to subscribe to the original PBA streaming service, Strike Pass, later PBA XtraFrame, and then FloBowling.

When Craig Elliott asked me to help with the 2017 Luci coverage on XF, I had a chance to give Bob a shout-out for his longtime support of bowling and the PBA. I told Brady ahead of time of my idea but didn't know exactly when it I could do it. As a former radio broadcaster, I was familiar with announcers acknowledging fans who send notes to MLB team radio booths has been a mainstay for decades, but this was different.

As players changed pairs between games, David Waswo and I announced scores and who would be on our feature pairs the next game, there was a fifteen second window of opportunity, so I said what I wanted to say.

I got a text from Brady within a minute after I said it, saying Dad sat with his mouth open for a moment, then said it was nice of me with his trademark grin with a glint in his eye. The dozens of bowlers you encouraged to bowl better and bowl a regional and see if it suits your fancy also thank you, too. May you Rest in Peace, Bob.

article that the bowling center had been leased out for three years and that the agreement had recently expired.

I contacted Yreka Lanes to see if I could get some more information and they put me in touch with Ms. Leach. Laura confirmed in a phone conversation that the bowling center tenant decided not to renew the lease because of the COVID-19 uncertainty. Rather than look upon this negatively, Leach decided to approach the Food Bank Board of Directors about the possibility of operating the bowling center as a nonprofit.

Willis Thompson, an avid bowler and President of the Board (and Laura's father!), really pushed for this to become a reality, and it happened! Under the unique arrangement, all money collected, over and above expenses, will be a donation to the Food Bank. Laura's background as a

SWAG Signs 3 Year Commitment with PBA

By: Todd Pfifer
CALIFORNIA - California Bowling is proud to announce their SWAG LINE has signed with the PBA to have its Swag bowling balls join the ranks as the newest registered company for three years effective June 1st. The Swag balls have been receiving great reviews and feedback since being first approved by the USBC in September of 2017. In addition to the Swag line making it ways into the pocket... California Bowling accessories (tape, bags, cleaner), under the LaneMasters and Legends umbrella are also making their way into the PBA and PBA50. California Bowling consists of four ball brands (LaneMastes, Legends, Lord Field, and Swag) and will be registering their other brands in the future.

Swag is the first line to have a coverstock that is anti-bacterial and odor resistant. Created by their R&D team called ANTI-IVI for today's environment and a bowler's piece of mind.

Check out the website at www.californiabowlingllc.com for further info on equipment, inquiring on becoming a member of the newly forming PBA Staff, or getting product into your pro shop. After a fourth consecutive single-pin spare, Via could've put the game out of reach with nine, spare, strike in his final frame. Instead, he left the 2-8 combination on his first offering, spared it and struck on the fill ball to force Butturff to throw three strikes for a tie.

The loss marked the third runner-up finish for Butturff at the U.S. Open, with the first two coming in 2017 and 2018, where he was the top seed by more than 550 pins. He also lost the 2018 event by a single pin, falling 207-206 to England's Dom Barrett. Former Team USA member Rhino Page cruised to the win in 2017.

"If you keep finishing second at one of the most challenging and prestigious events, you're obviously doing something right," said Butturff, who also finished second in the PBA World Championship and Chameleon Championship this year, both part of the recent World Series of Bowling. "In these longer formats, it's about who has the patience and stamina, as well as versatility and the ability to both strike and spare. To keep getting to that level says something, and if I can keep giving myself opportunities to win it, hopefully I can eventually be the one winning by a pin."

The seven-time PBA Tour champion, including the 2019 United States Bowling Congress Masters, entered the stepladder as the second seed, hoping the different perspective, and the recent success of the No. 2 seeds at the U.S. Open, would offer a different fate. It certainly looked like that could be the case as he delivered nine strikes in his first match Sunday.

The 26-year-old left-hander was in complete control in the semifinal and rolled to a Neuer, whose father, Andy, is a PBA Tour champion, was looking to become the youngest bowler to win a major title on the PBA Tour.

Though he fell short of that goal, he did add his name to the record book by becoming the fourth bowler in history, and first since 1991, to pick up the 7-10 split on a PBA telecast.

the PBA Tour's youngest major champion when he won the USBC Masters in 2016. USBC and PBA Hall of Famer Norm Duke set the overall record when he won his first title in 1983 at 18 years, 345 days old.

Neuer's path to the semifinal was unobstructed, as a pair of open frames from Cristian Azcona of Clermont, Florida, helped the young southpaw pick up his first TV win on the PBA Tour.

The four-time member of Junior Team USA, struck in six of his first eight frames to deny Azcona the ultimate 27th birthday present by a score of 236-200.

Azcona also was looking to become the first bowler from Puerto Rico to win a PBA Tour major. His win at the PBA Xtra Frame Wilmington Open in 2018 made him the first bowler from the island to claim a PBA Tour title of any kind.

The day's opening match was a high-scoring all-urethane battle between Azcona and three-time PBA Tour champion Jason Sterner of Rochester, New York.

Azcona started with four consecutive strikes to build a 13-pin lead, and he delivered three more strikes in his final frame to lock out the 37-year-old right-hander. The final score was 258-256.

Sterner, who finished fourth in last week's USBC Masters and was looking for his first major title, bowled a near-maximum 100 games between the two events, both at the National Bowling Stadium.

All five major winners from this season now will meet in the PBA Super Slam, which will air live on FOX on April 18.

Joining Via in that event will be Kyle Troup (PBA Players Championship), Francois Lavoie (PBA Tournament of Champions) and Tom Daugherty (Guaranteed Rate PBA World Championship) and Thomas Larsen (Masters).

The 2021 U.S. Open started with 108 competitors, all of whom bowled 24 games of qualifying across three oil patterns, before total pinfall determined the 36 bowlers who advanced to Friday morning's Cashers' Round on a fourth lane condition.

The final pattern, a 42-foot condition, was used throughout match play and was featured again on the TV show Sunday.

Following the Cashers' Round, 32-game pinfall totals determined the 24 players for round-robin match play, and their 56-game totals, including 30 bonus pins for each match they won, determined the five bowlers for Sunday's stepladder.

Via entered the Cashers' Round in 24th place and closed with games of 279, 300 and 240 to secure his spot in match play, qualifying 16th. In the rounds that followed, he moved up to 10th, then third, before a position-round win against Butturff earned him the top seed for the show.

The majority of the competitors this week earned direct entry into the event based on their on-lane performances throughout 2020, while 43 bowlers advanced to the 108-player field through last Sunday's eight-game pre-tournament qualifier.

Each round of qualifying and match play at the 2021 U.S. Open was broadcast live at BowlTV.com and simulcast on FloBowling.

DAVE'S CORNER

25-year employee of Health and Human Services in Siskiyou County had a lot to do with the success of this project, as she has become an expert at policies and procedures, and writing grants.

"For now, we are open for the bowling leagues, and 75% of them are senior citizen groups," stated Leach. But beginning this week, the bowling center will be available for open play customers under the 25% capacity recommended by the state of California. Laura goes on to say, "One of the first big expenses that we will need to address is new air conditioning for the summer months at a cost of $30,000."

There are so many "feel good" aspects to this story that I can't help but wonder why this would not be the bowling story of the year... were it not for political correctness. Some of the unheard of concepts that Laura has offered to the public:

- If a family can't afford to pay for the bowling - we ask that they give what they can!
- If a family can't afford the additional cost for rental shoes - we give it to them!
- If a family can't afford the additional cost for a burger - we give it to them!

Here's another interesting twist: the former employees of the bowling center have all decided to stay on during the reopening, and all have volunteered their time! Many others in the town have committed to the efforts of the Food Bank, including Raley's Supermarket of Yreka. Leach says that every day Raley's makes a donation of "day old" goods to the Food Bank, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, that's the primary ingredient for 50 pounds of groceries once a month, to families in need.

At the present time, Mary's 10-Pin Cafe and a Pro Shop (operated by Bob Reed) are open; but the game room, billiards and alcoholic beverages are still on hold.

"We hope to have everything open again real soon," says Ms. Leach. She also asks that if anyone would be interested in making a donation to the Siskiyou Community Food Bank on behalf of the bowling center effort, you can go to their website, siskiyou-foodbank.org and click on the donate button near the top left of the main page.

So if you're driving on I-5 in the area of Siskiyou County, why not take a break and grab a bite to eat or bowl a few games at Yreka Lanes? You will be benefiting a good cause, and enjoying your contribution at the same time!
