

Ricky Schissler, Bryan Goebel Win PBA50 Regional Titles in Junction City

Junction City, Kan., (October 9, 2017) – Ricky Schissler from Brighton, Colo., and Bryan Goebel of Shawnee, Kan., won joint PBA50 Southwest/Midwest Regional events in a doubleheader weekend at Junction City Bowl.

On Saturday, Schissler, a PBA member for over 30 years, defeated defending champion Mark Scroggins from Canyon, Texas, 237-172, to win his first PBA title. Scroggins opened in the fifth frame and then left a pocket 7-10 split in the eighth frame of the championship match, allowing Schissler to coast to the victory.

On Sunday, Goebel chased David Scardaville of Houston, Texas, throughout round-robin match play finals. Scardaville was the qualifying leader and maintained the lead until the final match. Holding a 50-pin lead over Goebel going into position round, Scardaville saw his lead vanish when Goebel started with five strikes while Scardaville could not get a double. A split late in the game by Scardaville allowed Goebel to coast to a 225-167 position round win and claim the win for the third time in Junction City. Goebel finished the 15-game event with an 8-0 match play record and 3,567 total pins, including match play bonus pins, while Scardaville ended with a 3,529 pinfall total.

The PBA Southwest Region will return to South Plains Lanes in Lubbock, Texas, October 13-15, for the PBA Lubbock Sports Challenge, a non-champions event. The regional players then return to North Rock Lanes for the PBA Wichita Southwest Open

Matt O'Grady, Dick Allen Earn Return Trips to PBA Regional Challenge

Matt O'Grady of Matawan, N.J., representing the PBA East Region, and Dick Allen of Columbia, S.C., representing the South Region, have earned return trips to the PBA Regional Challenge in Reno where O'Grady is the defending champion and Allen was runner-up in 2016.

The PBA Regional and PBA50 Tour Challenge events will kick off the GEICO PBA World Series of Bowling IX, presented by Eldorado Reno Properties, at the National Bowling Stadium, on Tuesday, Nov. 7. WSOB IX kicks off the Go Bowling! PBA Tour series for 2017-18.

In 2016, Allen and O'Grady emerged from the eight-game head-to-head match play preliminary round as the one-two qualifiers for the title match which was live streamed on Xtra Frame. O'Grady won the showdown match, 225-217.

O'Grady earned his return trip to Reno as the 2017 East Region points race with 126,853 points, easily beating runner-up Alex Cavagnaro of Massapequa, N.Y., who had 78,858 points. Likewise, Allen repeated as South Region champ with 140,915 points, out-distancing Cristian Azcona Ever Wonder Why Winning a PBA Title is Such a Precious Accomplishment?

As the Professional Bowlers Association prepares for its 60th anniversary season in 2018, it would be interesting to know exactly how many bowlers have held PBA membership since its formation in 1958. But keeping track of information like that in the pre-computer era of the '50s was rather difficult, so accurate membership data from the early years isn't available.

An educated guess is more than 10,000 bowlers have been PBA members at one time or another. But what the PBA did track was many of its more important statistics, like who won a title...or two...or 47, which gives perspective to that 10,000-plus estimate.

A quick trip through some of the PBA title stats reveals some interesting trivia, such as:

- As of September 1, 345 different players had won at least one PBA Tour title.
- Exactly 51 players have won 10 or more titles.
- Of the 345 individuals who have won PBA Tour titles, 124 (35.9%) have won one title.
- 54 players (15.6%) are in the group of two-time title winners who invariably said

PBA Hall of Fame Voting Underway for Chris Barnes, Ron Mohr

The PBA's panel of veteran bowling writers, existing Hall of Famers and PBA staff members are currently considering the résumés of 18-time PBA Tour champion Chris Barnes of Double Oak, Texas, and Ron Mohr of North Las Vegas for election to the PBA Hall of Fame.

Should either or both be elected, induction ceremonies will be held as part of the Go Bowling! PBA 60th Anniversary Celebration weekend in Indianapolis. The celebration dinner at the Marriott North in Indianapolis on Saturday, Feb. 17, also will honor any meritorious service candidate(s) elected by the PBA Hall of Fame Committee. Results of both elections will be announced next week, and the entire celebration dinner, which also will include the presentation of 2017 PBA Tour award winners, will be live streamed by PBA's Xtra Frame online bowling channel.

The stepladder finals of the Go Bowling! PBA 60th Anniversary Classic will follow on Sunday, Feb. 18, live on ESPN at 1 p.m. EDT. Preliminary rounds of the tournament will be held earlier in the week at nearby Woodland Bowl.

Barnes, 47, is one of five players to win both PBA Rookie

Just Paying Attention

By Mark London
Mark@TheBowlingNews.net

Looking back into the JPA archives as it began appearing in TBN five years ago this week, I wrote something about describing the game's almost non-existent video archives. Since that statement a few years ago, many more pieces of film and video have found their way to the International Bowling Hall of Fame and Museum on the bowling campus in Arlington. As Hollywood and other filmmaking communities around the world have found out, older film and video recordings don't stand the test of time very well. Improper atmospheric conditions, temperature and humidity, can deteriorate older film stock and original videotape even faster if they aren't ideal, or to use a phrase Randy Pedersen likes to tell us on ESPN... if they don't match up.

Since 2015, the IBHoF & Museum has had its own film/video restoration project, known as Frame4Frame. Restoring numerous sections of the 1500 films and 200,000 feet of film and video can be not only time-consuming, but also quite expensive. Older film stock and videotape may have to be physically cleaned first and then converted to a digital format, according to Jessica Bell, Museum curator.

"Depending on the quality and size of the film stock, sometimes they have to be cleaned before being transferred to digital. With moisture, heat, cold, the film stock can be temperamental that way," Bell said.

Clips of the footage already digitized since the beginning of the project is shown in a short video released on YouTube this summer, found here: (https://youtube.com/watch?v=S1NtzaAR_30)

"It's amazing watching some of the footage in that promo video, knowing it hasn't been seen for fifty or sixty years, how well it looks after it's been cleaned and restored. We can't overestimate how important it is to get this done," Bell added.

"With all the footage, three separate restoration firms have bid on the project. The range is between $150,000 to $200,000 and would take anywhere between twelve to fifteen months," said Tracy Ebarb, Business Development Director of the IBHoF&M.

Let's run through some of the material needing restoration. One of the oldest pieces is from the 1930's, like the Andy Varipapa film short 'Strikes and Spares'. Like movie previews seen at the start of feature films at your neighborhood multi-screen theater these days, Varipapa's trick shot skills were shown to mass audiences for the first time in 'Strikes and Spares' at that time. Other clips date back to the 1940's, with most of the film from the mid to late 1950's. Videotape holds the bulk of the other footage from the early 1980's to today.

Familiar places and programs seen in the to-be-restored film and videotape group are from such television shows as 'The Flintstones', 'M*A*S*H', 'The Ozzie and Harriet Show', 'The Jack Benny Show', 'The Tonight Show starring Johnny Carson', 'The Merv Griffin Show', and in several highlights mentioned here in JPA over the years, both NBC's 'Late Night with David Letterman', and CBS', 'The Late Show with David Letterman' (the Mike Aulby and Dick Weber appearances). The recordings of shows into the mid 1970's were recorded directly by pointing a film camera at a television monitor, producing a film reel known as a kinescope.

Some of the familiar names in footage bowling are Presidents Nixon and Bush (41), Mary Lou Retton, Reggie Jackson. Rare footage of Walter Ray Williams, Jr. Dick Weber, Marion Ladewig, and Earl Anthony are said to be included.

Bell has a hunch there may be a pleasant surprise or two amongst the yet-to-be viewed footage. "Because we don't have any machines at the Museum to view the film and tape, I would not be totally surprised if there may be a rare piece or two included with the film reels, since some reels don't have any lists on what is inside the film can. We have found other reels with miscellaneous clips added to the end of a longer piece," Bell added.

One major needle-in-a-haystack find in sports happened in 2009 and was highlighted here in the column. Thought to be lost was the television broadcast recording of Game 7 of the 1960 World Series. Several other early kinescopes of 1950's World Series were discovered years before, but there had been wishes, especially from Pirate fans, myself included, about what the original broadcast looked like with Mel Allen's call of the game on NBC, ending with the historic Bill Mazeroski walk-off home run. It's still to this day the only Game 7 with a Series-ending round tripper.

That 'needle' was found by an archivist for the Bing Crosby estate eight years ago when he was looking for material for a different project in the Crosby wine cellar. He discovered four movie reel tins away from other film tins, containing the whole game from first pitch through the postgame locker room interviews in pristine condition. It was known Crosby had a kinescope of the game and watched it just once, but its whereabouts were unknown since.

Crosby was an early advocate in recording all his television performances, using kinescopes when the cost of videotape recording was prohibitive. Thanks my dad's favorite crooner, the television broadcasts of one of the signature games of World Series history was saved, even producing a 2010 MLB Network special.

So yes, bowling does have an extensive television and movie history and it does need to be saved, not only for us who witnessed some of it as it occurred, but also for others who would like to enjoy it years from now as well. I would not be surprised if there is more great footage not yet known, especially with PBA pros dating back to the 1960's possibly possessing their own personal kinescopes made available after a tournament win.

There will be other fundraising and awareness campaigns in the near future, including one with the display inside the National Bowling Stadium. Ebarb gave me details, but I'll wait to disclose them when the official announcement is made in the near future.

Collegiate Ticker

The Calumet men and St. Ambrose women collected wins last weekend at the 47th Annual Midwest Collegiate Tournament, the first Tier 1 event of the 2017-2018 United States Bowling Congress Collegiate season.

A total of 40 men's varsity teams and 32 women's varsity teams competed at AMF Bowlero in Wauwatosa, Wisconsin. The format included six traditional games and 16 Baker games, with total pinfall determining the champions.

Calumet was in third place after Saturday's six traditional games and rallied during Baker competition, averaging 226 on Sunday to take home the victory with a 10,050 total. Notre Dame-Ohio finished second with 9,988, and Midland took third with 9,863.

Calumet now has claimed the men's title at AMF Bowlero in two of the last three seasons.

The men's individual standings had a tie for the top spot as Saint Xavier's Ryan Koesema and Toledo's Ben Thomas each rolled a six-game score of 1,414, a 235.66 average. Wisconsin-Whitewater's Aaron Turner was third with 1,384, while St. Ambrose's Brent Boho (1,381) and St. Francis-Illinois' Michael Kicmal (1,376) also earned their way onto the all-tournament team.

St. Ambrose posted the highest Baker total in the women's division to catapult from third to first, finishing with a 9,102 total. Lindenwood recorded a runner-up finish with 9,005, and Notre Dame-Ohio took third with 8,824.

St. Ambrose has started the 2017-2018 season with back-to-back victories. The Fighting Bees also finished at the top of the standings at the Boiler-maker Classic.

Natalie Koprowitz of St. Ambrose led the women's individual standings with a 1,300 total, a 216.66 average. Notre Dame-Ohio's Megan Freed (1,279) and Alexandria Dick (1,270) finished in second and third, respectively, while St. Ambrose's Kayla Crawford (1,267) and Lindenwood's Shelly Goodwin (1,266) rounded out the top five.

In other USBC Collegiate action over the weekend:

-At the Wolverine Hoosier Athletic Conference No. 1 in Adrian, Michigan, the Concordia women edged out the win in the final Baker set, while the Lawrence Tech men rolled to victory.

Applications Being Accepted for 2017 Tony Reyes Community Service Award

The PBA is now accepting nominations for the 2017 PBA Tony Reyes Community Service award, named in honor of the late PBA Tour player in recognition of his service to the bowling community. The award recognizes a current PBA member who performs extraordinary community service over the course of a PBA Tour season. To be eligible, the nominee must be a PBA member in good standing.

For a nomination form and additional information click on <http://www.pba.com/Corporate/Awards>. The deadline for submissions is Dec. 18.

Reyes, a popular PBA Tour titlist, died in late September 2012 of injuries sustained in a traffic accident near his home in San Bruno, Calif.

Past winners of the award have been Parker Bohn III of Jackson, N.J., in 2013 for his work primarily with two charitable endeavors he established – the Striking Out Sandy fundraiser and his annual Parker Bohn III Scholarship Tournament; Missy Parkin of Laguna Hills, Calif., in 2014, for her work in organizing the Baby Reesa Foundation fundraiser which supports families with children born with Krabbe Disease; Ed Godbout of Felton, Calif., in 2015, for establishing several charitable initiatives in Reyes' name including the Tony Reyes Memorial Scholarship and the Tony Reyes Memorial Youth/Adult Doubles Tournament, and Rhino Page of Orlando, Fla., in 2016, for his involvement with the Thomas Cacioppo family in New York in raising more than $225,000 to combat the debilitating digestive tract disorders Crohn's and Colitis.

20-Year-Old Is New Owner of Minnesota Center

BJI- Cyber Report
Unless we hear differently, we'd like to introduce you to the youngest bowling proprietor in the country... perhaps even the world: Taya DeRycke, age 20.

DeRycke began working at Bole-Mor Lanes in Pipestone, Minn., when she was a sophomore in high school. When the proprietor of the center, Stan Sabie, passed away in late September of 2016, DeRycke created a GoFundMe page in hopes of buying the center, which was for sale at the time of Sabie's passing.

At that point a local businessman, Preston Stahl, purchased the building and made a deal with DeRycke: He would own the building, and she would own the business and pay him rent.

After being closed for just under a year, undergoing refurbishment, Pipestone Lanes reopened last month. DeRycke already is taking a different approach to the business than Sabie, complementing the league program at the eight-lane facility with birthday party packages and an upgraded food program.

"Even if you aren't a big bowler it's a great place for families to get together and hang out," DeRycke told the Pipestone Star. "I have a lot of birthday parties where not the entire party bowls. There's just not a lot of places in Pipestone where you can hang out with a large group of people."

Located in the southwest corner of Minnesota, Pipestone is home to 4,317 people (as of the 2010 census) and the Pipestone National Monument, where American Indians have quarried red pipestone for generations.

Now, it's also home to the youngest bowling center proprietor... as far as we know.

At Forum Bowl

Grange rockets to 815, Adams corrals 727

A Lavery-Spahr 814, Klann 300/811, Padilla, S Lavery-Spahr 300's

Brian Grange heated up the lanes at Forum Bowl last week with an award-winning 246-279-290 = 815 Crusaders league session.

Anthony Lavery-Spahr finished close behind Grange with an award-winning 814 Fast Lane Trio series while R J Klann followed with a 300/811 award-winning series in Columbia 300 Masters action.

Ashley Adams fronted the ladies with a top drawer 257-247-223 = 727 Fast Lane Trio series.

Brenda Padilla and Sean Lavery-Spahr shared high-game honors with Klann as each recorded award-winning 12-baggers.

HONOR ROLL

Marsha Goforth 219-591, Gena Breedlove 202-581, Sammie Boles (9 pin, 4 games) 278-740, Dani Kwaczala (9 pin, 4 games) 298-670, Brian Heath 248-707, Kathlene Lyons 247-655.

PBA QUICK NOTES

of Puerto Rico (112,210).

The other regional qualifiers O'Grady and Allen will face this year include:

Central Region - Graham Fach of Guelph, Ontario (183,896 points) over Kyle Mayberry of Mt. Vernon, Ohio (142,939);

Midwest Region - AJ Johnson of Oswego, Ill. (142,414) over veteran Tom Hess of Urbandale, Iowa (111,916);

Southwest Region - 2016 PBA Rookie of the Year Francois Lavoie of Quebec City, Quebec (175,775) over Anthony Lavery-Spahr of Pasadena, Texas (116,796);

West Region - Darren Tang of San Francisco (198,309) over Jakob Butturff of Phoenix (195,631);

Northwest Region - Tang also won the Northwest points title (199,194) over Cameron Weier of Tacoma, Wash. (191,577), but Tang will represent the region where he lives, meaning Weier gets the Northwest Region berth in Reno.

The PBA50 Tour Challenge also will be held on Nov. 7 in Reno, featuring the top eight players in 2017 competition points: PBA50 Player of the Year Brian LeClair, Norm Duke, Parker Bohn III, Bob Learn Jr., Walter Ray Williams Jr., PBA50 Rookie of the Year Michael Haugen Jr., Amleto Monacelli and Ron Mohr.

Both Challenge events will be covered live in their entirety by PBA's Xtra Frame video streaming channel. For subscription information, visit xtraframe.tv.

EVER WONDER

the second title proved the first one wasn't just luck.

- We didn't ask them, but the 36 players who have won three PBA Tour titles would likely agree with the two-time winners.

- So that begs the question, how precious do you think PBA titles are to the 132 players who have won four or more titles?

- A lot of bowling experts thought Earl Anthony's record of 41 PBA Tour titles (later upgraded to 43 when his two USBC Masters titles were recognized) was untouchable. So do you think Walter Ray Williams Jr.'s record 47 titles will ever be broken?

- 100% of all PBA title winners will tell you that you can't win a title simply "by luck," regardless of how many players were in the field or how many games you had to bowl.

- Beyond the PBA Tour, thousands of PBA members also have participated in the PBA Regional program since the inaugural National Resident Pro Championship in 1969. Over the years 573 different players have won at least one PBA Regional title...and as of September 25, the PBA has awarded a grand total of 6,318 titles in regional competition. Scientifically speaking, that's a lot of regional titles.

PBA history is filled with enlightening "firsts" and unusual feats. For example, did you know Roy Lown of Baltimore was not only the first left-hander to win a PBA Tour title (his only Tour title), but he won it in the first televised PBA Tour finals, the 1961 PBA National Invitational in Paramus, N.J. It wasn't national television, but it WAS televised.

And that's how legends and legacies begin - with stats and figures and notes about unique accomplishments.

As the PBA prepares to celebrate its 60th anniversary, it remains true that every PBA Tour title has been precious, the ultimate prize in a bowler's life, and every title has a story behind it. In 2018, the PBA is going to re-live a lot of those precious memories through a special "60 Most Memorable Moments in PBA History" review. Watch for it.
